The head of the Bureau of Reintegration Policies Alin Gvidiani holds a dialogue with the experts of the George C. Marshall European Center for Security Studies

Today, the head of the Bureau of Reintegration Policies, Alin Gvidiani, has held a discussion with a group of experts from the George C. Marshall European Center for Security Studies, who are performing a working visit in the Republic of Moldova during which they plan several meetings with government officials and actors of the national NGO sector.

The discussions concerned the activity of the Bureau and of the Deputy Prime Minister for reintegration, priority measures along the lines of reintegration policies and within the existing negotiation/interaction programs, the most actual problems on the agenda and the approaches/actions of Chisinau, the role of the international actors in stimulating the settlement process and promoting confidence building measures.

The interest of the Bureau team in benefiting from the relevant professional training courses offered by the George C. Marshall Center was stated, as well as the need to request various forms of available assistance from the institution and its experts.

