The message of the Reintegration Policies Bureau on the occasion of celebration of the International Human Rights Day

The International Human Rights Day is traditonally celebrated on December 10th, being an event connected to the adoption and proclamation of the Universal Declaration on Human Rights, which in the current year has marked its 73rd anniversary.

On this occasion, we extend our warmest congratulations to all officials, public servants, foreign and national partners, professionals, caretakers, jurists and attorneys promoting human rights. We express cordial thanks for the fruitful collaboration established, maintained and developed on the line of duty of the Bureau, as well as encourage strengthening of conjugated efforts in order to overcome all difficulties and challenges to rights and liberties enshrined and guaranteed constitutionally and at a global level.

The current day is an opportunity to reiterate the necessity of consolidation of global, regional, national and local solidarity, interconnection of general human capabilities and objectives, involvement in joint exercises, coordination within all existing dialogue platforms to improve and perfect mechanisms of protection and compliance with human rights and fundamental freedoms.

Human rights are primordial and especially actual in the Republic of Moldova as well, especially in the context of vulnerabilities generated in the background of COVID-19 pandemic, but also of challenges and very grave infringements manifesting themselves in the administrative units outside effective control from the constitutional authorities. This imposes a greater mobilization and sensibilization to take efficient and durable measures, which would ensure compliance with legal provisions, affirming the values of democracy, rule of law and inalienable rights of citizens on the entire territory of the country.

Human rights are non-negotiable, they are universally guaranteed, legally formalized and non-discriminatory, and their respect and protection is a primary duty for each of us.
